Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☐ Responsive to communication(s) filed on ____.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 7, 8, and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Breed US 20030015898.

Re claims 1 and 7, Breed discloses the invention as claimed. Note the headrest controller 250 (Par [0030] describes the crash sensor sequence), the headrest movement (seen in Figs. 9A and 9B), a head positioning detecting unit comprising a sensor for detecting the predetermined state of approach 320, 321 and a sensor for detecting a predetermined state of contact 350, both located in the front part of a headrest, a control circuit (not numbered, in par [0061] Breed discloses that the control module comprises circuitry, considered to meet the limitation of a control circuit) which stops the headrest based on a detection signal from either of the sensors (see par [0064]).

Re claim 8, Breed discloses a headrest controller 250 comprising: a headrest driving mechanism 370 (see Par [0058]), a crash detecting sensor 210, 211, 212, a head position detecting unit (see above rejections), a control circuit (not numbered, in par [0061] Breed discloses that the control module comprises circuitry, considered to meet the limitation of a control circuit). Also see rejection for claims 1 and 7 for functionality limitations.

Re claim 11, Breed discloses the invention according to claim 8 as previously described. Breed also discloses that the headrest can be automatically reset after being deployed in Par [0065]

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Breed US 20030015898.

Re claim 5, Breed discloses the claimed invention except for a plurality of both types of sensors. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include more than one of each type of sensor, since it has been held that mere duplication of the essential working parts of a device involves only routine skill in the art. St. Regis Paper Co. v. Bemis Co., 193 USPQ 8.
